RED WOOL ?

Colonel Bob — (Red Kernel) —
County Agent Bob — Says So ?

(By Jas. T. Brown, of Berea.)

Down in Eastern Kentucky they've got a young man of red blood—that sees red as the color best adapted for men, women, animals, corn, etc. This red philosophy comes to him by comparisons, confirmed through experience and consensus of opinion—that it has become a doctrine and counterpart of his instruction, for the guidance and safety, in those initial efforts towards progressive farming and breeding, etc. His predilection for the red dominates his talks, and he proves the varieties there of by observation and examples, etc., so that out of an army of converts, there is a battalion known as the "Red Battalion",—from the Daniel Boone trail leading to and from Berea, Ky.

Our "Bob" is the Colonel (red kernel) of these reds! In some of the mountain communities, he is spotted as "R. I. Red" for his advocacy for the Rhode Island Reds, as the hen for productivity in the egg line at all times. Then again as "Red Cattle Bob"—his fondness for red cows and bulls as best yielders in calves, milk and cream fastens that title to him too.

"Red Hog Bob" falls from the lips of many. He is ardent in his attachment for the red hogs (Durocs) as superior in their product numerically—their appetite for roughage—their swiftness in putting on pounds of fat and pork etc.—'tis a fad with him and evinces sureness of judgment and big profits to all of his followers: "clean pens and surroundings and vaccination to prevent cholera," is a slogan, coming from him persistently at all of his meetings.

Quite as often as "Red Corn Bob" for this is a corn country; his partiality for the red corn to show "offener than the white or yellow, is not an affection, but a real and distinctive veneration; he reasons and proves that red corn makes sweeter and more palatable cornmeal; as it runs to larger kernels, even in formation, and as a rule more to the average cob than white or yellow.

So sure of his success in other red directions, he is on the track to bring forward a breed of sheep to produce red wool; its white and black now, why not red? He's devout in his purpose and positive too, for the result.

The "red battalion" will give him another title of "Red Sheep Bob" when he goes among them, if his object is attained.

This titled gentleman and a new Kentucky Colonel (red kernel), is a native Kentuckian from the neighborhood of Berea, Ky., son of a farmer and a graduate of that famous and unique Berea College, that institution for the education of the boys and girls of the mountain section of Kentucky, etc.

He is a member of the extension service of the State University, and as such has state authority in the presenting of agricultural knowledge to the seekers of such information which is rendered on call or visitation in his pleasing and intelligent manner.

He also shines pre-eminent as a County Agent for the U. S. Agricultural Department and a successful missionary in the cause of progressive farming and cattle raising etc., and would wear a red uniform if the U. S. would let him, but Robert F. Spence, County Agent, Berea, Ky., rides a near red Kentucky horse, as proud and handsome an animal that can be seen—it answers to the name of "Red Bird."

This new Kentucky Colonel with his red philosophy that has become an obsession, and may incite the desire for a heritage from a red-headed mate says an editor for he is single and liable to find the agreeable one some day.

Red wool growing on a sheep's back is something to look for — will it be the next surprise.

WAYSIDE NOTES

G. C. Hayes agent North Winchester has a three months vacation and is spending it in Montana with his brother Lloyd. Russel Proctor, of Mt. Vernon is left in charge of railroad affairs during Mr. Hayes' absence.

The first woman "watchman" in Kentucky was placed in charge of the Main street crossing L. & N. July 1st, succeeding William Baker, of Rockcastle who was given other duties.

William Baker was in Memphis first of the month to see Mrs. Baker who has been seriously ill for past month. He brought "Bigga-muss" and his young sister back with him and they are with a sister in Lockland, Ohio.

Great activity in grain threshing during past week. Yield is turning out well.

A Winchester sign for room renting says: suitable for "light house keeping." Rather distant from the sea.

The newly added nickname for the Ford, "Metalic Elizabeth," could consistently be accompanied by the "iron Bettie."

Winchester has the distinction of being the only city in our country that has been presented with a flag and staff. The Second Regiment.

Words in general use during war of 1860s: Emente, Skeedaddle, Copperhead, Butternut, Greyback, Hard-tack, Yank, Johnny-Red, Gorilla, Bushwhacker, Skirmish, Home guard, Refugee etc. Among popular songs and tunes during those trying days were: The Bonnie Blue Flag, Just Before the Battle, When you and I were young Maggie, Tramp, Tramp, Tramp the Boys are Marching, Fisher's Hornpipe, Coming Thru the Rye, Yanka Doodle, Dixie.

On Sunday last James Pinkerton and the writer under charge of the expert driver John R. Albright, made a trip, "down on the Hanging Fork," in Lincoln county, on Boone Way between Stanford and Danville to visit the family of James T. Hackley, whose wife is a sister of the writer. The visit was made especially to meet Joseph G. Hackley a nephew of the writer who is in from London, England.

Mr. H. is one of the Western Electric Co's expert electrical engineers, who has been located in European work, with headquarters at Antwerp, Belgium until the big war opened which required a removal across the channel to old London town. It was the good fortune of yours truly to secure at the hands of Mr. H. souvenirs from big Zepelins brought down at London in October 1916. Brocings of aluminum used in the monster machines in which twenty tons of this metal was used are among the souvenirs in possession of this overseas visitor who returns to London September first, after staying in Chicago directing the manufacturing of material etc for use of the companies London house. The particular Zep from which we have souvenirs was seven hundred feet long and sixty feet in diameter. It met destruction thirteen miles from Mr. Hackley's rooming place, the even at that distance the blaze from burning airship lighted up the streets to a greater brilliancy than a full moon. More than a hundred thousand Londoners visited the scene of the fall next day. The remains of the monster machine covered acres of ground and at some points the debris was thirty feet in depth. Sixteen Germans met their death in the fall. The bodies were given a military burial and the victims' names inscribed, when obtained. "Incendiary bullets" or bombs were used in bringing this air vulture to earth, by being fired into the huge envelope of the machine setting fire to the immense store of gas therein. No more Zeps venture on these excursions the air-planes have taken their place. The English available defense against them are now such that the enemy is "skittish" about venturing on raids. One of these forms, in addition to anti-aircraft guns, is that hundreds of captive balloons attached to three mile cables, sent up into the air every night, across the city for many miles. When an airplane strikes one of these cables it becomes entangled and drops to the earth. Raids made at night, the aviators fail to see the cables until striking them, and if made in daytime the anti-aircraft guns do the work for them. Thirty three raids have been made on London since Mr. Hackley's residence in that city. As many a hundred people have lost their lives in a single explosive from bombs dropped from the air. Three forms of missiles are used by the enemy. Explosive bombs, incendiary bombs and darts. The first named explode upon contact with the earth or obstacle, the second is made with a piercing point and is of such weight that when dropped will force its way through five floors of a building and is arranged to immediately start a fire from chemicals, consisting of aluminum dust and oxide iron, which when set on fire from a detonator in the bomb makes molten iron of the mixture with a 5,000 degree Fahrenheit. In the early days of the war on some of these raids as many as a dozen fires were under way at the same time. Owing to good organization and preparations made for these emergencies the fires are quickly subdued. Fifty planes are sometimes sent upon these raids the never more than five venture over the city, and they only for a short distance, fearing these balloon cables. The majority drop bombs near outskirts of city and return home reporting they have bombed London. The Rhineish cities of Germany are now getting some of the medicine the Huns have been giving to London and the citizens panic stricken are after the war crazed Emperor to call off his London campaign of frightfulness hoping thereby to appease the Allies to the extent of withholding air roads over German territory. Mr. Hackley's conclusions are that the Allies forces are yet one million less than that of the Huns and that it is probable that two years will yet elapse before the allies will secure their defeat, which he says is certain to be accomplished. The allies, in Europe Mr. H. says, will raise probably something more than sufficient grain this year for their use, and are looking to America for the remainder of a sufficiency for their use. The greatest shortage is in fats, such as butter, lard and tallow. Four ounces of butter per week is the present allowance for each person. Every Londoner and all the Allies have perfect faith in their ultimate victory but appreciate and understand there is yet to be much sacrifice of life, fortune and suffering.

LIVINGSTON

Mr and Mrs. I. W. Catlin have returned from Cincinnati. Miss Ella Argenbright, of Knoxville, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Argenbright. Mrs. Sue Mullins and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Herd will leave for a few days visit with relatives in Huntington, Va. Little Henry Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Welch, had the misfortune to get his arm broken Tuesday. Dr. Amyx was called and he seems to be resting well later. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson, of the Level Green section, has been visiting relatives in Corbin and Livingston, for the past week. Since our last letter J. W. Baker, Jr., has moved to our town and put in a stock of merchandise. Mrs. Sarah C. Inabuidt, of near Dallas, was here latter part of last week to attend the funeral of her father, J. H. Owens. Mrs. V. C. Owens and children, of Hazel Patch, have been visiting relatives here for a few days. Dr. R. G. Webb has purchased and is installing a $1,300 fountain. It looks like we all can keep cool if we have the coin. B. H. Griffin left Tuesday night to enter the service of Uncle Sam. He goes to Indianapolis. This makes three brothers to enlist. It looks like they are doing their part to fix the hated Hun. The least expected sometimes happens. We had begun to think that the pike up the river was only a dream but today the surveyors are here and have started the survey of the pike, so now it is a reality and they claim that the work will be pushed. Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Arnold, of West Virginia, are here visiting relatives. J. F. Dees is overhauling his telephone lines here and adding new phones. Mr. A. B. Wolf, who has been quite sick for a long time, remains about the same. Mrs. Jane Owens, of Pineville, is visiting relatives here. Prof. Lee Webb has returned from a few days visit with relatives at Lexington. We have been silent for several weeks, as far as a letter from this place is concerned and the editor even threatened to have a search warrant issued for us to see if we could be found. Well, here we are at the front again, ready to dope out the news. We have been very busy in the past few weeks as work seems to be increasing. We see our friend Robins, of Brodhead, claims that he has lost us. We have returned and at our post again, ready to give all the news we can, and ready to do all we can to help whip the Huns and carry the Stars and Stripes to Berlin and place them on the loftiest peak of the city, where we are satisfied they will be ere this war is over, and peace and good will, will reign amongst men. Mr. and Mrs. Edd Graves, of Covington, Ky., are visiting relatives here this week. Edd is just recovering from a severe case of typhoid fever. Maurice Cotton-gim, has a job of firing on the rail road and will go to Paris in a few days. Mrs. Thomas Farley, who has been quite sick for some time, is some better. At present, this is a busy world. Everybody is doing his part, or should be, and if there are any loafers now, you can put it down that they will not work, for there is work for everyone. The idler has no excuse now, nor will they have soon. Some of these days we are going to have one of the home comings. This will be when the murderous Huns lay down their arms and sue for mercy, when the red-handed, blood thirsty Kaiser, and the rest of his tribe, are de-throned. We will not express our feelings, but mothers there will be a homecoming when the Stars and Stripes have been carried to Berlin, when autocracy and kaiserism will forever disappear, then the boys will return home, and until then let's try and strive to do all in our power to help win this war. We have been informed that our police judge has resigned, as has also the marshal and a part of the councilmen. To do the town justice we will say that we were getting along fine until a few days ago when a few little disagreements arose and the magistrate will settle them. Our friend Robins wanted to know what has become of us in one of his letters and now we believe he has gone to hunt us, but hope he will return soon.

Died, July 4th, James H. Owens at the age of 79 years. He had been in very poor health for five or six years and about a year ago he had a stroke of paralysis from which he lost the use of his left arm. About 11 a. m. Wednesday he had another stroke from which he died about 7 p. m. July 4th. He leaves his wife, one son, the writer, two daughters, Mrs. Sarah C. Inabuidt, of Dallas, Pulaski County, and Mrs. Maria Wells, of Cincinnati, O., one brother and two sisters and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn his loss. He was laid to rest in the McGuire burying ground to await the call of his master. All those that have had a like experience know the feelings of the writer.

Eberhart, the London photographer, will be in Livingston every Sunday morning during the month of July.

Twins, a boy and a girl, were born to the wife of Edd Barger, last week. Mrs. G. E. Painter, of Livingston, was the guest of the family of W. A. Carson, last week. Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Jarrett, of Berea, were with relatives here during the week. We understand that they will soon move to our town. Mrs. Bettie Sharp, and little grand daughter, Elizabeth Francisco, arrived here from Harlan county, Saturday. Mrs. Sharp, who has been there several months with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Francis, will remain here, and in a few weeks Mrs. Francisco will move back to their home on Main street. Mr. Francisco will remain there where he has a good position. Lee McGurgue, of London, was here Saturday on business. R. L. Smith and S. S. Purcell were on the Stanford stock market Monday with fifty head good stock cattle. D. M. Cress shipped a car each of lambs and hogs from here Wednesday. Sayers & Hamm a car each of hogs and cattle. Mrs. Bowling accompanied her father, Mr. West, to his home in Laurel county, Tuesday. She will return home the last of the week. Miss Elizabeth Davis, and brother David, of Nicholasville, are with their aunt, Mrs. R. H. Hamm, this week. D. B. Chandler took Mrs. Chandler to the Norton Memorial Infirmary, Louisville, Thursday, to be operated upon. Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Carter accompanied them. Mrs. Chandler has been in poor health for several months and it is thought that an operation is very necessary. A number from here are attending the Institute at Mt. Vernon, this week. Misses Ella Belle Newland, Hazel Albright, Nina Albright and Elizabeth Davis, were in Mt. Vernon, Wednesday, between trains. Everett Watson was at home Sunday from West Point. Mr. and Mrs. Josh Wilson, of the Bee Lick section, were with her father, Mr. J. T. Lawrence, during the week. Miss Jo Davis, of Mt. Vernon, is spending several days with her sister, Mrs. Walter Robins, here. Goodbye Livingston, hello France. We understand that our good friend of Livingston is in the front line trenches and that accounts for no news from that good town for the past few months, but we hear he is on the way and when he arrives there will be no scarcity of news then.

COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

The Kentucky Council of Defense means to put on an all-day war conference in Rockcastle county, August 6th. This will be a get-together patriotic and business gathering. Many short speeches and discussions of methods. We would be glad to have every man, woman and child in the county attend and take part in this the most important type of meeting that can now be held. The Fiscal Court and Road Overseers are requested to have work done on all roads over which coal is to be hauled, within the next three or four weeks. We must get our fuel from local mines as we have not ordered from other sources, and hauling should start early. Some of the roads are most impassible and early work on them will help solve the coal problem for next winter.

$2,000,000,000 is a man's job. If a railroad train should be one second late for every dollar it would be sixty four years behind its schedule. If the people of the United States try to help the government in buying thrift stamps to the amount of $2,000,000,000 we shall have to buy 500 every second from now until January 1, 1919. You see it can't be done by buying thrift stamps alone. But we must have the $2,000,000,000.00. It's a man's job. The boys and girls have done wonders. They have bought from their own funds hundreds of thousands of dollars of the little thrift stamps. But they must be helped by the men and women if this job goes over, and in a big way, by the purchase of war stamps.

It has taken us over a year to realize that it is a man's job "Over There." And we now know that it is a man's job over here. Don't cry out against the multiplication of subscriptions and contributions and prohibitions. Did you ever stop to think that the boys "Over There" can't stop after they fight one battle and take their own time to fight the next one? It's life and blood and wounds "Over There;" it's sordid dollars and cents over here. Take your choice. It's taxes one month, Red Cross the next, Liberty Bonds the next, Y. M. C. A. funds the next and K. C. subscriptions the next. That's all right "Over There" it is gas today, shrapnel tomorrow, machine gun fire day after tomorrow and Hell every night. And our boys do not get 4 per cent compound interest on their investment of life and limb. Wouldn't you like them to know that Kentucky did not hesitate to invest money while they invested their lives? Look upon the War Savings Stamps as a man's job just as you looked upon the Third Liberty Loan.

You can rely on Cardui. Surely it will do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women! It should help. "I was taken sick, seemed to be . . ." writes Mrs. Mary E. Veste, of Madison Heights, Va. "I got down so weak, could hardly walk . . . just staggered around. . . I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when run-down. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.

W. J. HOWARD

If you believe that bankers and lawyers are the only people to draw and enjoy the big fat salaries, and if you believe further that coal barons and merchant princes are endowed with a patriotic wisdom that will nourish civilization and peacefully bless the human race, then vote for Mr. Robison, who is a banker, a lawyer and a mine owner; or for Mr. Edwards, who is president of a bank and one of London's greatest wholesale merchants, both of whom have proven to be selfish dollar makers, which very quality in man has brought the world to this, the most horrible crisis known to history.

Or, if you think the time has come that men more of the common type, who live as the masses live and think as the masses think, and who get their livelihood as the people get theirs, then on the third day of August, 1918, when you get ballot in the Republican Primary you will find the name of W. IN REMEMBRANCE.

In fond and loving remembrance of our dear companion and mother, Sarah E. Houk, who passed away July 7, 1917.

Our dear one is gone, but not forgotten,
Never will her memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts will ever linger
Around the grave where she is laid.

We loved her, oh we loved her,
But the Savior loved her more,
So the Angel sweetly called her
To that bright and happy shore.

The golden gates were open,
A gentle voice said come;
And with farwells spoken,
She calmly entered home.

It was so hard to part with her,
Oh! so hard to see her die,
But then we will try to meet her,
Some sweet day bye and bye.

Gone from our home, yes, forever,
Although we wanted her to stay
God in his Infinite wisdom
Sent his Angel to take her away.

Meat Must Be Sold

Fresh meat is perishable. It must be sold within about two weeks for whatever it will bring.

A certain amount of beef is frozen for foreign shipment, but domestic markets demand fresh, chilled, unfrozen beef.

Swift & Company cannot increase prices by withholding meat, because it will not keep fresh and salable for more than a few days after it reaches the market.

Swift & Company cannot tell at the time of purchasing cattle, what price fresh meat will bring when put on sale. If between purchase and sale, market conditions change, the price of meat must also change.

The Food Administration limits our profit to 9 per cent on capital invested in the meat departments. This is about 2 cents per dollar of sales. No profit is guaranteed, and the risk of loss is not eliminated.

As a matter of fact, meat is often sold at a loss because of the need of selling it before it spoils.

A photograph of homefolks pleases the soldier more than any thing you can give them. Let Eberhart make it for you. He will be in Mt. Vernon every Saturday during the month of July.

Word reached us just before going to press that Elza Langford, whose death has been expected for several weeks, had passed into the great beyond, from the ravages of that terrible disease consumption.

Eld. James Riddle will preach at the John Graves grove next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. On the third Sunday he will preach at Brindle Ridge and on the fourth Sunday at Pine Hill. Each service will be at 11 o'clock.

The War Savings workers are still busy and will not let up until they have seen every one in Rockcastle and given them a chance to lend our Government what they can. There are a few schools which have turned in an absent list but it is hoped that these will all be wiped out before the final report is turned in to Washington. If you happen to be on that absent list of your district get your name on a pledge card to-day or phone the Chairman of your school district or the County Chairman and they will do it for you. Kentucky must raise its fifty million and Rockcastle must raise its quota.

The young folks arranged a most delightful outing and picnic at the "Big Fill" for last Wednesday evening in honor of John P. Landrum, of the Navy, who is at home on a ten days furlough and will Thompson who has returned from six weeks training at Camp Sheridan. It was a most pleasant evening for all and the young ladies certainly did their part in preparing lots of good things to eat. The following is the list of those who enjoyed the pleasant outing:—

Misses Edith Moore, Margaret Welch, Edith Phillips, Onie Silvers, Amy Proctor, Bonnie and Dessie Niceley, Lula McCoy, Julia Fish, Margaret Sparks, Christine Davis, Viola Brock, Virginia Crawford, Rissie Williams, Ruth Landrum and Mrs. Nicholas Randolph. The Anti-liquor-shipment bill, passed by the recent Kentucky Legislature became effective June 20th. It is now unlawful for any intoxicant of any character to be brought into Rockcastle county even for personal use. The express companies, railroads and all other conveyances are prohibited from carrying any intoxicating liquors. Not only that, but an individual cannot go to Lebanon, Lexington or any other wet spot and bring on his person any intoxicants of any kind for his own use or that of another. This is a good law and the people of this county expect the officials to rigidly enforce it.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE.

Another splendid session of Rockcastle County Teachers Institute will come to a close today. This is the third institute in succession, with Prof. Ireland has held and there is no question but that he improves with age. One notable fact was that there were very few young men to be found among the teachers. There are a few who are "too old to fight," making a large percentage of the teachers ladies. Many of the teachers will teach their first school this year, but many of them we know and we also know that they are better qualified than some who have been trying to teach for years. The week has been both pleasant and profitable and we expect to see many good results from this week of instruction and the inspiration which the teachers have received from the number of splendid talks made by visitors as well as our home people and the splendid instructor, Prof. Ireland.

The following is the list of teachers as enrolled:

Food Administration.

Producers of poultry and eggs can ship their own product without a license. Dealers who ship without a license will get in trouble with the Government.

Retail merchants who do not get their applications for sugar certificates in before July 15th will not be able to buy any more sugar this year.

Retail merchants can no longer furnish customers with a certificate to buy twenty-five pounds of sugar for canning purposes. Some body has misused these certificates. The twenty-five pounds of sugar can still be bought for canning purposes, but the County Food Administrator has to issue the certificates. The merchant who sells this sugar can send these certificates to his wholesaler and buy sugar on them to replace the sugar for canning. The merchants allowance is to be sold for regular table purposes, and to customers who will agree to use not more than three pounds per month for each individual.

The Government buying of wool is still so complicated that it will be advisable for small producers to sell to local buyers. No local buyer can be a profiteer in this product. Any local buyer can buy wool, as it will ultimately reach the Government factories.

Millers can grind wheat for the farmer and deliver to him a three months supply of flour on the basis of twelve pounds of flour for each thirty days, for each individual in the family. The miller can receive an amount of wheat equal to a nine months supply, but the last six months supply can not be delivered now, but is subject to any ruling passed later. But the consumer in every case must agree to use an equal amount of flour substitutes.

Rockcastle County Food Administrator,

The Kentucky Trio composed of Misses Smith, Crosby and Bingham, who are touring Kentucky in the interest of the Red Cross gave a most enjoyable program to a large audience of appreciative hearers at the Graded school chapel Tuesday evening. The entire proceeds go to the local chapter where the program is rendered, except the amount necessary to buy oil and gas to take them to the next town and $1 allowed for tire expense. All three are high class musicians and they are certainly doing a great work for the Red Cross.

Are the Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

The Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five large meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market.

These conditions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern not only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country.

The figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

The packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary.

The meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

The report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years.

This sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was $121,000,000 greater than the pre war profit.

This compares a three-year profit with a one-year profit—a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures themselves.

The aggregate three-year profit of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales—or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Packers' profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

Furthermore—and this is very important—only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the business. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve—and solve quickly—during these war years.

To conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock, has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return on this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and to provide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the Allies.

If you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquainted with business, talk this matter over with some business acquaintance—with your banker, say—and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any other large industry at the present time.

No evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of other packers.

The packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no power to manipulate prices.

If this were not true they would not dare to make this positive statement.

Furthermore, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one-third of the meat business of the country.

They wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their business. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beef for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by-products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this broad land, as well as in other countries.

The five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each other to the extent of together presenting this public statement.

They have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairmindedness of the American people with the facts before them.

ROADS

If you maintain roads you help win the war.

There is not such a shortage of men who want to work.

Why can't we skip the argumentative and educational periods and build and maintain roads now.

Everybody is for good roads the same as we are for good air and good health, but the man that is really for roads is for the 20c Road Tax.

A county that has a good county road engineer will have good roads, but pity is expressed for a county that is burdened with an inefficient road engineer.

A good road survey must be made if the road is built as cheaply as possible.

Everybody knows that the roads cannot be maintained under existing conditions without more revenue.
